

NAVIGATING GLOBAL TRADE DISRUPTIONS WITH INCOTERMS® 2020

Managing Costs, Risks & Trade Operations in 2026

30 June 2026 | MISIF Training Room

Global trade and energy supply chains continue to face growing uncertainty amid geopolitical tensions, sanctions, shipping disruptions, rising insurance premiums, volatile freight rates, and evolving customs requirements. Recent developments in key shipping routes, particularly in the Middle East and Red Sea region, have further increased operational and commercial risks for businesses worldwide.

In this increasingly challenging environment, a clear understanding of Incoterms® 2020 is essential to help companies manage cost exposure, allocate risks effectively, minimise contractual disputes, and strengthen overall trade operations.

This programme will provide practical insights into navigating current global trade disruptions through the effective application of Incoterms® 2020, supported by industry case studies and discussions on emerging trade and logistics challenges in 2026.

KEY TOPICS COVERED

- Geopolitical Risks Impacting Trade & Shipping
- Risk Transfer Under Incoterms® 2020
